CWP Director: Snieder to Succeed Tsvankin

The Center for Wave Phenomena announces that Roel Snieder will assume the role of CWP director as of June 1, 2008. He follows Ilya Tsvankin who has served as CWP director for the past four years.

Upon the retirement of Ken Larner as CWP director in 2004, the CWP faculty agreed to rotate the directorship among themselves every few years, with Tsvankin taking the first turn. Now it is time to rotate the position once again.

Incoming director Roel Snieder remarks, "It is an honor for me to serve as next director of CWP. Our faculty, staff, and students are a wonderful group of people and it will be a pleasure to work with them in my new role. I speak for all of CWP in thanking Ilya Tsvankin for his leadership and dedication the past four years."
